Tax calendar terms

CRS means the Common Reporting Standard (CRS) and under CRS, Reporting New Zealand financial institutions (NZFI) are required to report prescribed information about certain accounts held or controlled by relevant foreign tax residents to Inland Revenue (IR).

FBT means fringe benefit tax (FBT) return and payment for the quarter ending on the last day of the previous month except in the case of May 2026, in which case the return and payment are for the quarter or year ended 31 March 2026.

FBT income year return means fringe benefit tax (FBT) return and payment for employers filing under the close company option.

FBT annual return means fringe benefit tax (FBT) return and payment for employers filing under the small business option.

Gaming machine duty/problem gambling levy means gaming machine duty and problem gambling levy payment for the previous month.

GST means goods and services tax return and payment for the period ending on the last day of the previous month. The due date for payment is the 28th day of the month following the end of the taxable period (except when the due date is 28 December, in which case the due date moves to 15 January, and when the due date is 28 April, in which case the due date moves to 7 May).

ICA penalty means, for a company with a debit balance in its ICA on 31 March 2025, the last day for payment of further income tax and imputation penalty tax.

RWT/NRWT/AIL means resident withholding tax (RWT), non-resident withholding tax (NRWT) or approved issuer levy (AIL) deducted in the previous month. For 6 monthly filers, the due dates are 20th October for deductions made in the period 1 April to 30 September, and 20th April for deductions made in the period 1 October to 31 March.

Offshore gambling duty means offshore gambling duty applicable to overseas gambling operators for the previous quarter.

PAYE (large employers) means large employers pay to IR deductions (see note below) made in either the period from the 16th–31st of the previous month (the 5th) or the period from the 1st–15th of the month (the 20th). Note that the payment for the period from 16–31 December is due on 15 January.

PAYE (small employers) means small employers pay to IR deductions (see note below) made in the previous month.

Note: Deductions are for:

- # PAYE (and ACC earners' levy, if applicable)
- # tax withheld from schedular payments including from contract payments made to non-resident contractors
- # employer's superannuation cash contributions
- # KiwiSaver
- # student loans
- # child support
- # retirement scheme contributions, and
- # payroll donations.

Payments and penalties

Payments of tax may be made in a number of ways. This includes making payments electronically through internet banking, direct debit or by using a credit or debit card (Visa or Mastercard). Payments by cash or EFTPOS may be made at any branch of the Westpac bank. If one of the dates falls during a weekend or a public holiday, it is automatically extended to the next business day. If payment is not made by the last day, late payment penalties are chargeable. See ¶14-050.

The late filing of a tax return will bring about a late filing penalty of up to $500, depending on the level of income in that return. Late filing of an ACC reconciliation statement, annual ICA return, statement for RLWT or employment income information by an employer or PAYE intermediary will lead to penalties of $250. If the Commissioner is to impose such late filing penalties, they must give notice at least 30 days before doing so. However, this does not apply to employment income information, which is subject to an automatic late filing penalty on the second failure to file if it occurs within 12 months of the first. See ¶14-040.

Provisional tax dates [¶50-020]

[¶50-020]

Click to open document in a browser

A taxpayer's provisional tax dates depend on whether and how the taxpayer pays GST and whether they have adopted the GST ratio method of calculating provisional tax or the accounting income method (AIM). Provisional tax is due on the 28th day of the month, except for the amounts that would normally be due on 28 December and 28 April, which are due on 15 January and 7 May, respectively, to take into account the Christmas and Easter holiday periods.

The tables below set out the provisional tax dates for the different types of provisional taxpayers, as specified.

For a discussion of the instalment dates for provisional taxpayers, see ¶22-012 and ¶22-115.

Working for families tax credits [¶50-041]

[¶50-041]

Click to open document in a browser

Family scheme is available to low- to middle-income earning families with dependent children under the “Working for Families Tax Credits” package. It comprises the following tax credits, collectively known as WFF tax credits:

family tax credit — this is a credit of tax paid for each dependent child in-work tax credit — this credit is available to sole parents who work (before 1 July 2020, at least 20 hours a week) and couples that work (before 1 July 2020, at least 30 hours a week between them) and who do not receive a main benefit minimum family tax credit — this credit ensures a minimum gross family income for those families falling below its threshold, and

Best Start tax credit — this credit provides a weekly amount per child to help with the costs in a child's early years.

The family tax credit and the in-work tax credit are grouped together and abated as a family's net income (family scheme income) increases, giving what the legislation refers to as an “abating WFF tax credit”. Note that the Best Start tax credit also abates, but only in the second and third years, and it is not included within an “abating WFF tax credit”.

Abating WFF tax credit

The available abating WFF tax credit for an entitlement period is calculated under the following formula:

$$\text{family tax credit} + \text{in-work tax credit} \# \text{ credit abatement}$$

These credits may be paid either fortnightly into the principal caregivers' bank account or applied as a tax credit at year-end.

Family tax credit

The family tax credit is calculated as follows:

$$\text{prescribed amount} \times \text{days} \div 365$$

The prescribed amounts for the 2024–25 and later tax years are:

for the eldest dependent child, $7,524 per year, and for additional dependent children, $6,103 per year.

In-work tax credit

Note: The in-work tax credit is impacted by the mid-year legislative increases to thresholds.

The in-work tax credit is calculated, for 1 April 2024 to 30 July 2024, as follows:

$$($3,770 + $780 \times (\text{children} # 3)) \times \text{weekly periods} \div 52$$

From 31 July 2024 to 31 March 2025, the in-work tax credit is calculated as follows:

$$($5,070 + $780 \times (\text{children} # 3)) \times \text{weekly periods} \div 52$$

“Children” is the greater of 3 or the number of children in relation to whom the principal caregiver is entitled to the in-work tax credit.

Credit abatement

The credits referred to above abate when family scheme income reaches a certain level.

Family credit abatement

The formula for the family credit abatement is as follows:

$$\text{full-year abatement} \times \text{days in entitlement period excluding} \\ \text{months when protected family support recipient} \div 365$$ where “full-year abatement” is:

if the person has no spouse, civil union partner, or de facto partner during the entitlement period and the person's family scheme income for a specified period containing the entitlement period is more than $42,700, 27 cents for each complete dollar of the excess, or if the person has a spouse, civil union partner, or de facto partner during the entitlement period and the person's family scheme income, the family scheme income of the person's spouse, civil union partner, or de facto partner, or the sum of those incomes, as the case may be, for a specified period containing the entitlement period is more than $42,700, 27 cents for each complete dollar of the excess.

The family credit abatement is applied:

first, to reduce the amount of family tax credit, and second, to reduce the in-work tax credit.

Note: Effective from 1 April 2026, the abatement threshold has been increased from $42,700 to $44,900 and the abatement rate will increase from 27% to 27.5%.

Minimum family tax credit

Note: The threshold increased from $35,204 to $35,316 from 1 July 2024. This means that there will be an effective composite rate if a person receives a family tax credit throughout the 2024–2025 income year.

The minimum family tax credit applies to ensure a minimum after-tax family income that then abates once prescribed levels of income are reached. The formula for calculating the minimum family tax credit for working families in period from 1 April 2024 to 30 June 2024 is as follows—

$$($35,204 \text{ # net family scheme income}) \times \text{number of one-week periods as a full-time earner} \div 52$$

and from 1 July 2024 to 31 March 2025, it is as follows:

$$($35,316 \text{ # net family scheme income}) \times \text{number of one-week periods as a full-time earner} \div 52$$

For the 2023–24 tax year, the minimum family tax credit threshold amount was $34,216.

Best Start tax credit

The Best Start tax credit applies from 1 July 2018 and replaced the parental tax credit. It is a payment of up to $3,838 a year (or $73.81 per week) per child to help families with the costs in a child's early years, until the child turns 3. It is available to all families in the first year of a child's life. For the second and third years, support continues for low- and middle-income families, with the credit abating at 21 cents for every dollar that exceeds $79,000.

From 1 April 2024, the Best Start tax credit increased from $3,632 a year to $3,838 a year.

Non-resident withholding tax [150-070]

[150-070]

Click to open document in a browser

NRWT rates under domestic law for the different classes of non-resident passive income are the following:

Dividends	To the extent that a fully imputed dividend is paid to a shareholder holding: • a direct voting interest of 10% or more in the New Zealand company • a direct voting interest of less than 10% in the New Zealand company where a DTA would otherwise reduce the NRWT rate to less than 15%.	0%
	To the extent that the dividend is: • fully imputed, or • a supplementary dividend, or • an investment society dividend.	15%
In all other cases		30%
Interest	Where 2% approved issuer levy used	0%
	In all other cases	15%
Royalties		15%

A DTA may reduce these rates or, in some cases, create an exemption from NRWT entirely. A usual requirement for DTA modification is that the non-resident passive income is not associated with a permanent establishment in New Zealand.

The following exceptions should be noted in respect of the above rates of tax:

- # The double tax agreements (DTAs) to which New Zealand is a party generally provide that the maximum withholding tax rate New Zealand may impose on gross dividend income is limited to 15%.
- # Most of the DTAs to which New Zealand is a party provide a maximum withholding tax rate of 10% on interest and royalties.

RWT on payments of interest and dividends received during the 2011–12 and later tax years is as follows:

Interest	See below
Dividends (to extent not fully imputed)	33%
Taxable Māori authority distributions (to extent not fully credited)	17.5%

RWT on interest

The RWT rate in respect of interest differs depending upon the type of taxpayer:

Non-corporate taxpayers

For non-corporate taxpayers, provided the taxpayer's IRD number is supplied to the payer of interest, an election may be made to have RWT deducted at 10.5% (if there is a reasonable expectation that income will be $15,600 or less, or $14,000 or less before 31 July 2024), 17.5%, 30% or 33%.

With effect from 1 October 2021, a non-corporate taxpayer is able to elect the RWT rate of 39% if their taxable income is expected to exceed $180,000.

If an IRD number is supplied but no election is made, the default rate is 33%.

If no IRD number is supplied, the default rate is 45%.

Corporate taxpayers

For corporate taxpayers (other than a company that is a trustee or a Māori authority) the default rate is 28% if an IRD number has been supplied but no rate has been chosen.

Companies can also choose a rate of 33% or, from 1 October 2021, 39%.

If no IRD number is supplied, the default rate is 45%.

Taxable Māori authority distributions have a rate of 17.5% unless no IRD number has been supplied by the member to whom the distribution is made, in which case, the rate is 39% (33% before 1 April 2021).

Tax rates for schedular payments [¶50-080]

[¶50-080]

Click to open document in a browser

The following are the standard rates of tax for schedular payments as set out in Sch 4 of the Income Tax Act 2007. These rates apply if the recipient has not elected a rate: see further at ¶3-044.

When a recipient has not provided their name and tax file number to the payer, the withholding rate is a flat rate of 45%. This applies to all recipients other than corporate non-resident contractors, who have a 20% notification rate.

For payments made to non-filing taxpayers, withholding tax deductions can in some circumstances be a final tax.

Withholding tax must be calculated on a GST-exclusive basis when the payment is made to a person who is registered for GST and the payer holds a tax invoice issued by the payee.

When no tax invoice is held, the calculation is based on the gross amount of the payment.

Motor vehicle kilometre rates [¶50-084]

[¶50-084]

Click to open document in a browser

The allowable deduction for motor vehicle expenditure may be determined using the kilometre rate method, which can be used regardless of the kilometres travelled (¶10-710).

OS 19/04 (KM 2025)

In May 2025, the Commissioner released the following table of rates for the 2024–25 income year in OS 19/04 (KM 2025):

Vehicle Type	Tier One Rate	Tier Two rate
Petrol	$1.17	37 cents
Diesel	$1.26	35 cents
Petrol Hybrid	$0.86	21 cents
Electric	$1.08	19 cents

The Tier One Rate applies for the business portion of the first 14,000 kms travelled by the vehicle in a year. The Tier One Rate increase reflects that increase in fuel costs for the 2025 income year. The Tier Two Rate is for running costs only. Taxpayers should use the Tier Two Rate for the business portion of any travel over 14,000 kms in a year. All other aspects of the calculation remain as directed in OS 19/04 discussed at ¶10-710.

Historical motor vehicle kilometre rates

OS 19/04 (2019)

In August 2019, IR released Operational Statements OS 19/04a, “Commissioner’s statement on using a kilometre rate for business running of a motor vehicle – deductions” (¶10-710) and OS 19/04b, “Commissioner’s statement on using a kilometre rate for employee reimbursement of a motor vehicle” (¶13-445). OS 19/04a explains how the kilometre rates are to be applied when dealing with deductions for the business use of a motor vehicle and OS 19/04b deals with the treatment of reimbursement payments to employees.

The rates that applied for the 2018–19 income year were as follows:

Vehicle Type	Tier One Rate	Tier Two Rate
Petrol or Diesel	79 cents	30 cents
Petrol Hybrid	79 cents	19 cents
Electric	79 cents	9 cents

OS 19/04 (KM 2020)

For the 2019–20 income year, the Commissioner originally advised that taxpayers could use the 2019 kilometre rates: Tax Information Bulletin ¶325-108 Vol 32, No 5, June 2020 at 23. This was a result of COVID-19 meaning the Commissioner had not received third party information to determine the 2020 kilometre rates. Taxpayers could use the 2019 rates and adjust their 2020 income tax returns under s 113 or 113A of the Tax Administration Act 1994 if there was a material difference from the final 2020 rates.

In December 2020, the Commissioner released the following table of rates for the 2020 income year in OS 19/04 (KM 2020) (Tax Information Bulletin ¶1331-113 Vol 33, No 1, February 2021 at 57):

Vehicle Type	Tier One Rate	Tier Two rate
Petrol or Diesel	82 cents	28 cents
Petrol Hybrid	82 cents	17 cents
Electric	82 cents	9 cents

OS 19/04 (KM 2021)

In May 2021, the Commissioner released the following table of rates for the 2020–21 income year in OS 19/04 (KM 2021) (Tax Information Bulletin ¶1336-109 Vol 33, No 6, July 2021 at 175):

Vehicle Type	Tier One Rate	Tier Two rate
Petrol or Diesel	79 cents	27 cents
Petrol Hybrid	79 cents	16 cents
Electric	79 cents	9 cents

The Tier One Rate applies for the business portion of the first 14,000 kms travelled by the vehicle in a year. The Tier Two Rate applies for the business portion of any travel in excess of 14,000 kms.

Where a logbook is maintained, the Tier One Rate can be applied for the business portion of the first 14,000 kms travelled, with the Tier Two Rate applying after that. However, where no logbook is maintained, the use of the Tier One Rate is limited to the first 3,500 kms travelled for business purposes. The Tier Two Rate must then be used for kilometres travelled over 3,500 kms.

Note that OS 19/04b provided that for the 2019–20 income year, employers could reimburse employees using the 2018–19 rates from the date of the statement, 16 August 2019.

OS 19/04 (KM 2022)

In May 2022, the Commissioner released the following table of rates for the 2021–22 income year in OS 19/04 (KM 2022):

Vehicle Type	Tier One Rate	Tier Two rate
Petrol or Diesel	83 cents	31 cents
Petrol Hybrid	83 cents	18 cents
Electric	83 cents	10 cents

The Tier One Rate applies for the business portion of the first 14,000 kms travelled by the vehicle in a year. The Tier One Rate increase reflects that increase in fuel costs for the 2022 income year. The Tier Two Rate is for running costs only. Taxpayers should use the Tier Two Rate for the business portion of any travel over 14,000 kms in a year. All other aspects of the calculation remain as directed in OS 19/04 and illustrated above.

OS 19/04 (KM 2023)

In May 2023, the Commissioner released the following table of rates for the 2022–23 income year in OS 19/04 (KM 2023):

Vehicle Type	Tier One Rate	Tier Two rate
Petrol or Diesel	95 cents	34 cents

Petrol Hybrid	95 cents	20 cents
Electric	95 cents	11 cents

The Tier One Rate applies for the business portion of the first 14,000 kms travelled by the vehicle in a year. The Tier One Rate increase reflects that increase in fuel costs for the 2023 income year. The Tier Two Rate is for running costs only. Taxpayers should use the Tier Two Rate for the business portion of any travel over 14,000 kms in a year. All other aspects of the calculation remain as directed in OS 19/04 and illustrated above.

OS 19/04 (KM 2024)

In May 2024, the Commissioner released the following table of rates for the 2023–24 income year in OS 19/04 (KM 2024):

Vehicle Type	Tier One Rate	Tier Two rate
Petrol or Diesel	$1.04	35 cents
Petrol Hybrid	$1.04	21 cents
Electric	$1.04	12 cents

The Tier One Rate applies for the business portion of the first 14,000 kms travelled by the vehicle in a year. The Tier One Rate increase reflects that increase in fuel costs for the 2024 income year. The Tier Two Rate is for running costs only. Taxpayers should use the Tier Two Rate for the business portion of any travel over 14,000 kms in a year. All other aspects of the calculation remain as directed in OS 19/04 discussed at ¶10-710.

[¶50-085]

Click to open document in a browser

With effect from 1 April 2017, for the 2017–18 and later income years, IR gives a taxpayer the option to use a single rate (“square metre rate”) to the total area of any separately identifiable parts of a building that are used primarily for business purposes. The rate is based on average costs of utilities and insurance, but excludes rental, rates or mortgage costs. IR has set the following prescribed square metre rate for premises with dual use:

Income year	Square metre rate
2024-25	$55.60
2023-24	$53.10
2022-23	$51.05
2021-22	$47.85
2020-21	$44.75
2019-20	$42.75
2018-19	$41.70
2017-18	$41.10

Schedule of economic depreciation rates [¶50-160]

[¶50-160]

Click to open document in a browser

Background

The Table of Depreciation Rates lists the general economic and provisional depreciation rates set by the Commissioner. It includes all the current depreciation determinations made by the Commissioner since the original schedule of economic depreciation rates was issued as Determination DEP1: Tax Depreciation Rates General Determination Number 1.

Organisation and application of the schedules

For the purposes of this publication, CCH has prepared 2 consolidated schedules of depreciation rates:

- # depreciation rates from 2005–06 income year (“current schedule”), consolidated with notes for the post-2010 Budget changes (see ¶50-161 and ¶50-162), and
- # depreciation rates before 2005–06 income year (“old schedule”), a schedule of depreciation rates listed in Determination DEP1 for assets acquired between 1 April 1993 and 31 March 2005 (or up to 18 May 2005 for buildings) (see ¶50-163 and ¶50-164).

The schedules are split into 2: an industry category and an asset category.

Note that the depreciation rates for assets acquired before 1 April 1993 (“pre-1993 rates”) can be found in IR 267 “Historic depreciation rates”, Part 1.

The table below summarises the appropriate schedule of depreciation rates to be used to determine the rate for an item of depreciable property, depending on its acquisition date.

Date of acquisition	Rates
21 May 2010 onwards	“Current schedule” rates (no 20% uplift is available)
1 April 2005 to 20 May 2010	“Current schedule” rates plus 20% uplift for new assets (not including buildings, used imported cars, fixed life intangible property, excluded depreciable property or international aircraft)
1995–96 to 2004–05 income year	“Old schedule” rates plus 20% uplift for new assets (where applicable)
1 April 1993 to 1994–95 income year	Pre-1993 rates plus 25% uplift (where applicable) or “old schedule” rates (without new asset uplift)
16 December 1991 to 31 March 1993	Pre-1993 rates plus 25% uplift (where applicable)
15 December 1991 and earlier	Pre-1993 rates

How to use the depreciation schedules

Generally, the following rules apply:

- # Where there is an appropriate industry category for the relevant industry and an asset is specifically listed, use that depreciation rate.
- # Where there is an appropriate asset category and the asset is specifically listed, use that depreciation rate.

Where the asset is specifically listed under an industry category that is not the person's main industry, then that depreciation rate must be used if the asset in question is used in a similar way to how it is used in that industry.

When assets are peculiar to one or 2 specific industries, they have been listed under that industry. When an asset is typically used in a variety of different industries (eg tanks, boilers and heaters) it is listed under the asset category.

Perhaps the best way to locate an applicable economic rate is to first determine the date of acquisition of the asset and confirm the correct schedule to use. Then look under the relevant industry category. These include categories for agriculture, horticulture and aquaculture; bakeries; contractors, builders and quarrying; leisure; and so on. If the asset in question is not listed under these industry categories, look under the general asset categories, such as books, music and manuscripts; building fit-out; computers; and office equipment and furniture. If an appropriate rate cannot be located from the asset categories, the default rate under the industry or asset category may be used. The rate adopted should be the one that is more appropriate in terms of how the asset is used.

Example:

Joe operates a takeaway. In April 2016, Joe purchased a new machine that wraps ready-made sandwiches in cellophane. To find the correct depreciation rate, Joe will need to first review the rates under the industry category "hotels, motels, restaurants, cafes, taverns and takeaway bars". The machine is not listed under this classification and it is not separately identified under any asset category. However, there is a rate for wrapping machines under the industry category "food processing". Because Joe would use the machine in the same way that this industry would, this rate may be adopted. The correct rate to be applied is 8.5% straight-line or 13% diminishing value.

Depreciation loading for assets

The 20% depreciation loading was removed for assets purchased after 20 May 2010. The economic rate of depreciation applies. Under the previous rules, depreciation loading increased the depreciation rate by 20% for qualifying items. This concession was available for items purchased during or after the 1995–96 income year.

Qualifying assets purchased or with binding contracts for purchase entered into on or before 20 May 2010 can continue to use the economic rate with loading.

Buildings

Before the 2011–12 income year, depreciation was generally allowed on all buildings at their economic rate, which was determined by the date of acquisition. From the 2011–12 income year, all buildings with an estimated useful life of 50 years or more had an annual depreciation rate of 0%, irrespective of when they were acquired.

However, as part of the Government's package to cushion the economic impact of the COVID-19 virus, it was announced on 17 March 2020 that depreciation would be re-introduced for commercial and industrial buildings from the 2020–21 income year. Thus, with effect from 1 April 2020, for the 2020–21 and later income years, only residential buildings with an estimated useful life of 50 years or more have an annual depreciation rate of 0%. Non-residential buildings with an estimated useful life of 50 years or more have a depreciation rate of 2% diminishing value or 1.5% straight-line.

For buildings other than those with an estimated useful life of 50 years or more, the annual rate will usually be the building's economic rate. The Commissioner sets the economic rate for buildings acquired on or after 19 May 2005 (and without a high residual value) by applying the formula in s EE 28:

$$\frac{1}{\text{estimated useful life}}$$

Although residential buildings (for the 2011–12 to 2019–20 income years, all buildings) with an estimated useful life of 50 years or more have a 0% annual rate, they are still considered depreciable property so that a disposal may give rise to depreciation recovery income.

For further discussion, see ¶13-410.

Grandparented structures

Certain “grandparented” structures that were previously considered not to be buildings, purchased on or before 30 July 2009, could still be depreciated for tax purposes to the end of the 2019–20 income year. Any improvements to these buildings made after 30 July 2009 would not receive the grandparented treatment.

“Grandparented structure” meant any item on the following list, if the person acquired the item, or entered into a binding contract for the purchase or construction of the item, on or before 30 July 2009:

- (a) barns, including barns (drying)
- (b) carparks (buildings)
- (c) chemical works
- (d) fertiliser works
- (e) powder drying buildings, and
- (f) site huts.

With effect from the 2020–21 income year, the provisions relating to grandparented structures have been repealed as part of the changes made to reinstate depreciation on non-residential buildings. For further discussion, see ¶13-410.

Commercial fit-out

Note that before the 2020–21 income year, to clarify the position that the fit-out of commercial buildings was not subject to the 0% annual depreciation rate that applied to buildings from the 2011–12 income year, the former definition of “building” in s YA 1 excluded commercial fit-outs. However, with the restriction of the 0% rate to residential buildings from the 2020–21 income year, the building definition and its exclusion for commercial fit-outs was no longer necessary and it was repealed. For further discussion, see ¶13-410.

Excluded depreciable property

Broadly, items that were acquired before 1 April 1993 are “excluded depreciable property”. For the 2011–12 to 2019–20 income years, “excluded depreciable property” also did not include “special excluded depreciable property”. “Special excluded depreciable property” meant all buildings except those listed in the former sch 39. The buildings listed in former sch 39 were:

- # carports (hired out to householders)
- # portable huts
- # cool-stores and freezing chambers
- # slaughterhouses on farms
- # fowl houses
- # plastic hothouses and PVC tunnel houses
- # glasshouses
- # buildings affected by acid
- # milking sheds
- # roofed livestock yards
- # wintering barns and simple loafing barns
- # milk powder barns
- # temporary buildings
- # fish processing buildings, and
- # tannery buildings affected by acid.

In essence, this meant that the depreciation rate for buildings that were not listed in former sch 39, and that would otherwise have been excluded depreciable property, was set at 0%. The buildings included in former sch 39 continued to be depreciated at the appropriate rate in the ordinary way. However, with the changes to the depreciation of buildings from the 2020–21 income year, discussed above, these provisions were no longer necessary and the definition of “special excluded depreciable property” and sch 39 were repealed with effect from 1 April 2020 for the 2020–21 and later income years.

Changes in 2022

The following tax depreciation rates general determinations have been consolidated into the schedules:

- # DEP108: Hydrofraise rigs available for use in the ordinary course of business
- # DEP 109: Automated ship mooring systems available for use in the ordinary course of business.

Further information

A full discussion of the depreciation regime is provided in the Depreciation chapter at ¶13-010 et seq.

Expenditure on land improvements — Schedule 20 [¶50-166]

[¶50-166]

Click to open document in a browser

The formula calculating the amount of the deduction allowed for land improvements of a kind listed in sch 20 is:

$$\text{Schedule 20 percentage} \times \text{diminished value}$$

where:

Schedule 20 percentage is the percentage set out opposite to the description of the improvement listed in sch 20, and diminished value is the diminished value of the improvement.

The kinds of expenditure (ie farming, freshwater fish farming, mussel farming, rock oyster farming, scallop farming, sea-cage salmon farming and forestry) eligible for the progressive deduction, and the appropriate percentage allowable as a deduction in each income year, set out in sch 20, are listed below.

Improvement		Percentage of diminished value of improvement allowed as deduction
Part A Farming
1	unless cl 2 applies, preparation of the land for farming or agriculture, including cultivation and grassing	5
2	regrassing and fertilising all types of pasture in the course of a significant capital activity that relates to a type of pasture with an estimated useful life of more than 1 year	45
3	draining of swamp or low-lying lands	5
4	construction of access roads or tracks to or on the land	5
5	construction of dams, stopbanks, irrigation or stream diversion channels, or other improvements for the purpose of conserving or conveying water for use on the land or for preventing or combating soil erosion, other than planting or maintaining trees, whether or not on the land, for the purpose of providing shelter to the land	5
6	construction of earthworks, ponds, settling tanks, or other similar improvements mainly for the purpose of the treatment of waste products in order to prevent or combat pollution of the environment	5
7	sinking of bores or wells for the purpose of supplying water for use on the land	5
8	construction of aeroplane landing strips to facilitate aerial topdressing of the land	5
9	planting non-listed horticultural plants on the land (see section 44C of the Tax Administration Act 1994)	10
10	erection on the land of electric power lines or telephone lines	10
11	construction on the land of feeding platforms, feeding yards, plunge sheep dips, or self-feeding ensilage pits	10
12	construction on the land of supporting frames for growing crops	10
13	construction on the land of structures for shelter purposes	10

Note that in the Income Tax Act 2004 the equivalent of cl 2 above gave a percentage of 45.

The deduction is available irrespective of whether the person owns the land. A person farming land owned by the person may claim a deduction for development expenses incurred either by the person or any other person. This allows a deduction for expenses incurred by a previous owner. But a person farming land that the person does not own may only claim for expenses incurred by the person.

In each case, the expenditure must be incurred in developing the land on which the farming or agricultural business is carried on. It must also be expenditure that is of benefit to the business. No deduction is allowable in calculating the income derived in the income year in which the person disposes of the land. See s DO 4.

Improvement		Percentage of diminished value of improvement allowed as deduction
Part B Freshwater fish farming
1	drilling of water bores	5
2	draining of land or the excavating of sites for ponds, races, or tanks	5
3	construction of ponds, races, settling ponds, sluices, or tanks of impervious materials to conduct or contain waters	5
4	supply and installation of pipes for water reticulation	5
5	construction of access paths, embankments, service paths, walkways, or walls	5
6	construction of effluent ponds	5
7	supply and installation of baffles or screens for the containing or excluding of fish	10
8	construction of fencing on the fish farm	10
Part C Mussel farming
1	acquisition, preparation, and mooring of pontoons or rafts or other floating structures for collecting spat	20
2	acquisition, mooring, and outfitting of moored floating platforms or longlines from which the collected spat is suspended for subsequent growth	20
3	collecting and depositing of shell or other suitable material on the sea bed to create spatting surfaces	20
Part D Rock oyster farming
1	acquisition and preparation of spatting sticks	20
2	construction and erection of posts, rails, or other structures for the holding of spatting sticks during spat catching and maturing	20
3	construction of fences (including breakwater fences)	20
Part E Scallop farming
1	acquisition, preparation, and mooring of floating structures for collecting spat	20
2	acquisition, mooring, and outfitting of longlines from which the collected spat is suspended for subsequent growth	20
Improvement		Percentage of diminished value

		of improvement allowed as deduction
Part F Sea-cage salmon farming
1	acquisition, preparation, and mooring of pontoons or rafts or other floating structures for securing or protecting cages or other containment vessels	20
2	acquisition, preparation, and placing of equipment or structures, including cages, nets, tanks, or other vessels, for the containment of live salmon	20
3	acquisition and placing of buoys and ropes used in the breeding or maturing of salmon	20

In each case, the eligible expenditure must be in respect of improvements and be incurred in developing the aquaculture business. It must also be expenditure that is of benefit to the aquaculture business.

A person working with aquaculture improvements that the person owns may claim a deduction for development expenses incurred either by the person or by any other person. This allows a deduction for expenses incurred by previous owners. However, a current lessee may not claim a deduction if the expenditure was incurred by a previous owner or lessee. A person working with improvements that the person does not own may only claim for expenses incurred by the person alone.

No deduction is allowable in calculating the assessable income derived by the aquaculturist in the income year in which the aquaculturist ceases to carry on the business. See s DO 6.

		Percentage of diminished value of improvement allowed as deduction
Improvement
Part G Forestry
1	felling, clearing, destruction, or removal of timber, stumps, scrub, or undergrowth on the land in the preparation of the land for the planting of trees on the land	5
2	eradication or extermination, to enable the planting of trees on the land, of animal or vegetable pests on the land	5
3	destruction, to enable the planting of trees on the land, of weeds or plants detrimental to the land	5
4	draining of swamp or low-lying lands in the preparation of the land for the planting of trees on the land	5
5	construction of roads to or on the land (including any culverts or bridges necessary for the construction), when the roads are formed and wholly or mainly metalled or sealed	5
6	construction of roads to or on the land (including any culverts or bridges necessary for the construction), when the roads— (a) are not access tracks to which section DP 1(1)(h) applies; and (b) are 1 of the following: (i) roads that are formed and partially metalled or sealed; or (ii) roads that are not metalled or sealed	20
7	construction of dams, stopbanks, irrigation or stream diversion channels, or other improvements for the purpose of conserving or conveying water for use on the land or for preventing or combating soil erosion	5

8	repair of flood or erosion damage	5
9	sinking of bores or wells for the purpose of supplying water for use on the land	5
10	construction of aeroplane landing strips to facilitate aerial topdressing or disease control work or firefighting on the land	5
11	construction on the land of fences, including the purchase of wire or wire netting for the purpose of making new or existing fences rabbit-proof	10
12	erection on the land of electric power lines or telephone lines	10

The eligible expenditure must be incurred in developing the land. It must also be expenditure that is of benefit to the forestry business. In the case where the person owns the forest land, the qualifying expenditure need not be incurred by the person. A deduction is still available if the expenditure is incurred by some other person such as the previous owner of the land. This enables a purchaser of a forestry business to continue with the deduction for the cost of land improvements.

No deduction is allowed for the income year in which the person disposes of the forest land or ceases to carry on a forestry business on the land. Expenses not included in the above table must be capitalised to a cost of forest account and deducted from the proceeds of sale as part of the cost of the timber. See s DP 3.

Amortisation rates for landfill cell construction expenditure [¶50-169]

[¶50-169]

Click to open document in a browser

Persons who meet the criteria under s DB 46 of the Income Tax Act 2007 and have incurred landfill cell construction expenditure in an income year beginning on or after 10 June 2005 may claim a deduction for that expenditure of an amount equal to 63.5% (straight-line equivalent) or 63.5% (diminishing value) of the expenditure.

The types of landfill cell construction expenditure to which these rates apply are:

- # excavation
- # cell lining, and
- # leachate drainage.

Excavation means costs relating to:

- # earthworks design
- # preparatory works (such as clearing the cell site)
- # earthworks, including excavation, borrowing and filling
- # erosion control measures and remediation of borrowed areas associated with cell construction
- # contractors' overheads related to cell construction, and
- # cell-specific resource consents other than those which qualify as fixed life intangible property.

Cell lining means costs relating to:

- # the design, construction and quality assurance of cell liners (clay, geosynthetic, flexible membrane, concrete or bitumen), and
- # protection and separation layers, including reworking and sub-excavation to support subsequent compaction or to provide slope stability.

Leachate drainage means the provision of drainage material to assist in drainage of leachate from the base and sidewalls of a landfill cell. This excludes drainage pipes and systems designed for the passage and extraction of leachate from the landfill.

For further explanation of the rates, see the commentary to Determination DET 05/02 in Tax Information Bulletin ¶1710-107 Vol 17, No 10, December 2005 at 51–53.
